FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1893.

A complete system of Penmanship.

A complete system of Penmanship, a system of penmanship, adapted to males and females, easily understood, and conveniently taught to large schools, and leading to a safe and practical result of a mercantile or a professional and literary hand writing, has long existed, and at length, after various efforts by a variety of persons, has at length been supplied by the Duttonian System, written by A. R. Dutton, prepared, explained and adapted to the system, in a series of books, copies, slips, and sheets, by Messrs. Dutton & Scribner, and published by Tappan & Whittemore, Boston.

A teacher whose school is furnished with this system of Penmanship, and after studying the system awhile, and cannot create an enthusiasm among his pupils in this department, must be very dull himself. There is a progressiveness and simplicity, and uniformity and certainty about it that admit of the system being taught, not merely and only from pupil to pupil, but to the whole school. This is a great advantage, because by it the method to be used is ascertained in the whole school, acted upon by the teacher, by the teacher, and each other. It is a long time since we taught a school, but we think we could prove successful with this system, although we must admit being a candidate for the office.

In this system the style of writing, the forms of the capital and lower case, and the combinations are unexceptionably beautiful; indeed, we do not know how they can be improved. There is so much unity and directness in this system, that it must be difficult for any one to miss the acquisition of the art, who will follow the directions from book to book through the series; and we would advise apprentices and young men withdrawn from school, to go through carefully and faithfully the entire series again and again.

The system, in parts, is attached to the books, by copper plate copies, and enhance by the most perfect type their cost. We find here, then, to begin with, the position of the pen, fully explained and illustrated, the manner of holding the pen, and elementary exercises. All these are upon the covers of the elementary books and require no ink.

The first elementary book is the general hand; then comes the regular series, book one and two, which are uniform for all pupils.

At this point there is a division into the Gentlemen's Series and the Ladies' Series, but the difference in the first book is, that the writing in the Ladies' series is rather smaller and finer than in the other, but the same system and the same words are employed, as the whole school may be taught at the same time and the great map made equally applicable in the second book of this series, the gentlemen start off on their mercantile hand, and the ladies on their neat epistolary hand.

Then come the cards and slips for general practice.

We have thus given a brief view of this system. We have watched its growth for several years, being first attracted by the masterly penmanship of Mr. Dutton—his execution with the pen surpassing that of any other person we have ever met. He has in connection with his associate, Mr. Scribner, carried the matter forward to its present point of excellence, adaptation and finish, so that the pupils in all the public schools of our country may now be taught to good purpose.

Several of the teachers in our city have had the benefit of seeing this system practically taught by Mr. Scribner, and in order to secure the advantages of this system to all the schools in the city, the Superintendent Committee should authorize this system exclusively.

To all teachers in our country winter schools, we would recommend this system and these books as the best for them and their schools; and school committees cannot spend money to better advantage than in the purchase of a copy or map of this system for their schools.

Among the substantial structures erected in our city the present season is the handsome Union Block, built by Nathaniel Johnson, Esq., the well known Store Dealer, on Maine Street, next South of the State House. This is a very handsome use to make of capital, in beautifying the city and at the same time placing it where it will yield a good annual income. The proportions of this block are fine and the building makes a graceful appearance.

The color of St. John Church, since it has received its new painting, is greatly admired, and patterns have been taken for churches in Massachusetts. The church has been very thoroughly repaired and painted, inside and outside, and Mr. Gibson-Marston has won new laurels by the excellent fresco painting he has executed in rear of the altar.

The Directors of the Grand Trunk Railway have obtained opinions to the Governor and Council, the Legislature, and Executive officers of the Government of Maine, for an Extension to Montreal at any time between this date and the 15th of October.

It is deemed unsafe for a man dealing extensively in Blitters and other compounds, mostly of liquor, to stand as the attorney for liquor dealers, at even the high toll of two dollars a year.

The Meteoroid brick church on Pine Street has greatly improved in appearance lately, by having been thoroughly painted, and extensive repairs put upon the interior.

The Portland Advertiser gives three cheers to Marshall, "emblem of this city for his extensive Maine affairs last week."

A temperance meeting at Cincinnati was broken up last week by a gang of rowdies, who chased the speaker.

Goodman Park & Co. have moved their supply of stationery goods, and are now occupying the premises formerly occupied by the Boston & Portland.

REPORT ON FARM.

The Trustees of the Penobscot Agricultural Society.

The Committee appointed to examine Farms entered for the Society's premium for the year 1893 having attended to that duty would beg leave to report: That the whole number of farms entered, were five, by the following persons: by Martin Mower of Bangor; E. H. Gibbs, Lowell Marston, and James Parker of Glenburn; and E. F. Crane of Kenduskeag.

In the examination of these farms, your committee were much gratified, in finding them in a prosperous and flourishing condition, notwithstanding the last three successive dry seasons, that have exerted such an unfavorable influence on farming operations.

The first farm examined was that of E. F. Crane, containing about 110 acres of land, and about 70 under improvement; that is, in mowing, pasturing and tillage. The crops on this farm, excepting the hay crop, the convenience of buildings, the privilege and convenience of water for the house and barns; the orchard and the improved breed of swine, were equal, and perhaps superior to any other examined.

The second farm examined was that of Martin Mower, containing 100 acres of land. The soil of this farm is of a very superior character, and in all parts of it, very similar. It is capable of making one of the best farms, as doubtless it will under the control and management of Mr. Mower, its owner; who being well versed in agricultural science, makes this knowledge available to practical purposes of agriculture. In moulting measure, Mr. Mower has few equals and less superiors.

The hay crop on this farm was tolerably good, and the turnip crop very superior.

The third farm examined was that of E. H. Gibbs, containing 125 acres of land, principally in mowing and pasturing. His barn was well fitted with hay. On this farm which but a few years ago was grown up to bushes, unproductive and comparatively in a state of barrenness, now, by his energy and perseverance, has the appearance of a well cultivated farm.

The fourth farm examined, was that of Dr. Lowell Marston, containing 125 acres, mostly improved. This farm deserves particular attention. It consists of a variety of soils, which for descriptive purposes we will divide into high land, low land, and meadow land. The high land is used for pasturing. The low land is used for mowing and hay. The meadow land is used for mowing and hay.

The fifth and last farm examined, was the one presented by James Parker, Esq. of Glenburn, containing 140 acres. This was a very good farm, and with the energy and perseverance possessed by Mr. Parker thirty years ago, he would make it a pattern farm; and although Mr. Parker is on the down hill of life, yet his barns were filled with hay, his orchards with delicious fruit, and his flocks and herds in a state, most convinced us that he retained all of the judgment and prudence, and much of the vigor of his more youthful days.

The claims with some of the competitors were so equally balanced, it was with difficulty that your committee could determine to whom they should award the premium; but after a patient and careful examination and comparison, they at length came to the conclusion to award the Society's first premium to Lowell Marston of Glenburn, for the best farm, $20.

Second best to E. F. Crane of Kenduskeag, $10.

Third, to Martin Mower of Bangor, $2.

Respectfully submitted,

Per order,

E. F. CRANE.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

ON FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

The undersigned, the committee on Fruits and vegetables, respectfully submit the following report:

For the best specimen of winter apples, $1 to Wm. Grinnell of Baxter—blue pearmain.

The third premium of 75 cents, to Philbrick B. Taylor of Corinth—Baldwin.

For the best specimen of fall apples $1 to J. P. Sinclair—Gravenstein.

The second premium of 75 cents, to C. B. Taylor—apple.

For the best specimen of garden vegetables, $1 to Wm. Mann, Bangor—squash.

The committee would also recommend a gratuity of 75 cents to Dr. Lowell Marston, for specimens of pumpkins.

Also, a gratuity of 50 cents to William C. Crosby of Bangor, for specimens of sweet corn.

Some fine specimens of water melons, muskmelons, and squashes, were exhibited by John E. Godfrey of Bangor.

The number of exhibitors of fruits and vegetables, was quite small, but the specimens so presented a good variety, and those of a high quality.

REPORT ON MANUFACTURES.

The Trustees of the Penobscot Agricultural Society.

The standing Committee on Manufactures have examined the articles offered for exhibition and premium at the Annual Fair Show, held in Bangor, Sept. 28th, 1893, and have awarded premiums as follows:

lating this portion of the show, extensive and attractive, and the result would have been highly satisfactory had not the weather been so excessively forbidding, as the day was marked by the severest storm of the season. We could not, however, but rejoice in seeing the fair, copiously descend, as it was so greatly needed for the general welfare, although coming just when it did put a damper upon our show.

A few contributors brought in their productions, for which we thank them, and from the number and excellence of the articles exhibited by these few, we may obtain an idea of the surpassing richness of the who had the weather been such as to have tempted the thrifty farmers of our County, and the stalwart manufacturers and skillful mechanics, to come out in masses, bringing specimens of their skill and their household treasures with them.

The City Hall was tastefully decorated and simple tables spread for the occasion, showing that the Trustees performed their part of the business in a satisfactory manner.

There was about half a ton of excellent butter exhibited by four persons. Capt. Nathaniel Bryant of Dexter, to whom the committee awarded the first premium for September butter of $1.50. This butter brought by Capt. Bryant, was worth selling, not only for its excellence, but also for the very handsome manner in which it was prepared for the market. Most of this butter was sold to go to Boston to special customers.

P. B. Fay, Esq. of Corinth, exhibited three or four hundred pounds of butter of great excellence, all of which was previously engaged to his special customers in this city. To Mr. Fay the committee awarded the premium of $1.00 on June butter, and the premium of $1.00 on September butter.

To L. J. Peabody of Bangor, we award the first premium of $2 for June butter.

To S. W. Knight of Garland, a premium of 75 cents for September butter.

To L. J. Peabody of Bangor, the first premium of $2 on cheese. One of the citizens of Bangor purchased the whole lot of cheeses of Mr. Peabody, paying him seventeen cents a pound.

The committee would remark for the encouragement of Penobscot farmers, that twenty eight cents a pound was offered for the September butter, and for one lot forty cents. These prices, are in themselves, pretty good premiums.

Mrs. G. W. Snow of Bangor, exhibited a very rich specimen of wrought raised work, an ottoman, to which we awarded a special premium of $1.

Mrs. F. A. Butman of Dixmont, a worked ottoman, a handsome article, a special premium of 75 cents.

Mrs. C. A. Smith of Bangor, best heart rug, first premium of $1.

Mrs. J. W. Curtis, heart rug, excellent work and durable, a premium of $1.

Mrs. Nathaniel Bryant of Dexter, heart rug, prem 75 cts.

Mrs. Clara E. Eddy of Corinth, heart rug, 50 cts.

Mrs. E. J. Wilson of Bangor, a lamp mat and a traveling bag, prem 75 cts.

Mrs. E. Williams of Bangor, ottoman cover, 50 cts.

J. T. Gilman of Bangor, cabinet work, $1.

George H. Chick of Bangor, best harness, an elegant affair, first prem of $1.

J. P. Sinclair of Bangor, best churn, $1.

Mr. Sinclair exhibited a butter box and mould, to which the committee awarded 40 cts.

Hemenway & Hervey of Bangor, exhibited a case of boots and shoes, which attracted much attention for excellence and delicacy of fabric, gracefulness of form and neatness of workmanship, they compare with the best of Paris make and are seldom equalled in this country. First prem $1.

Also, a case of hats of fine finish, first prem of $1.

Also, a case of fur goods temptingly beautiful, prem $1.

This firm also exhibited specimens of gloves and fancy dress goods.

Darrow & Crockett exhibited one of their famous smoking "stoves," an excellent article, first prem $1.

Brumham Brothers of Bangor, exhibited a large number of Daguerotypes of great excellence, and in all the various modern forms of frame and locket. Awarded prem of $1.

S. E. Percina of Bangor, a handsome case of medicines of his own manufacture, and very neatly put up in attractive packages. A prem of 60 cts.

Messrs. Hatch, Thompson & Co. spread a table very neatly with linen and other goods, manufactured for their sales, and imported by them. Among these goods were two very rich heart rugs, exceedingly fine and beautifully shaded; indeed appearing much like painting.

These rich articles show the great results of the combination of skill, capital and machinery, and how far these can go to minister to the elegancies and amusements of life. They lay their lesson, and as to have those bornatively coarse, but yet comfortable heart rugs, wrought in the hallowed home circle, by the fair fingers of the wives and daughters of the citizens of Penobscot county. The effort to supply home wants by home production and labor, is a worthy and a noble effort. It is this that secures independence, and home contentment and happiness.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN S. BAYWARD,
JOHN CUTLER,
E. B. MILLS.

Gratifying Results. At the stated meeting of the board of officers and managers of the American S. S. Union, held at the Society's house, Sept. 30, among other interesting proceedings reports were made of the doings of eighty-seven missionaries the aggregate of whose labors is shown in the following statement:

Sales of Sunday School books $131.33
Donations to poor school 10.00
Sunday School visited 100.00
Bible and Testament distributed 100.00

In accomplishing the good work here reported twelve hundred public addresses were made and over twenty-five thousand tracts were distributed. The Sabbath school of the Society, under the able management of the Rev. Mr. Bayward, has shown a most gratifying increase in the number of scholars.

The Herald's correspondent gives the conclusions arrived at in Mary's letter to Hulsmann in the Costa affair. They are, that Costa was arrested with Nationality of the United States, which therefore has a right to extend protection to him. That Commander Ingraham's interference in his behalf was therefore right; and that the recent captivity of Costa being illegal, the President expects the Emperor of Austria will place him in the same condition as when seized by the Austrians in Smyrna.
